Church summary

The site of ancient Ephesus is S of the Cayster River and about 5 1/2 km (3 1/2 mi) upstream from where it enters the Aegean Sea at the point opposite the island of Samos. Because of the sandy beaches it has been thought that Ephesus was situated on an inlet of the Aegean and that the coastline has receded. J. T. Wood in his archeological campaigns for the British Museum (1863–1872) discovered a continuous stone embankment along the river leading from the city to within a few hundred feet of the coast.

After the death of Alexander, Lysimachus, one of Alexander's generals, received Asia Minor and sought to move the city to a more defensible position on higher ground within a walled complex. Christianity gradually made inroads into the city known as the "temple keeper of the great Artemis" (Acts 19:35), and according to the weight of tradition the city became the center for the labor of the beloved disciple John. The history of Ephesus a legend involving the Amazons, who allegedly built the city because of its proximity to the birthplace of the mother goddess of earth.

Revelation 2:1-7

Unto the angel of the church of

Ephesus write; These things saith he that holdeth the seven stars in his right hand, who walketh in the midst of the seven golden candlesticks; I know thy works, and thy labour, and thy patience, and how thou canst not bear them which are evil: and thou hast tried them which say they are apostles, and are not, and hast found them liars: And hast borne, and hast patience, and for my name's sake hast laboured, and hast not fainted.

Nevertheless I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love. Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and do the first works; or else I will come unto thee quickly, and will remove thy candlestick out of his place, except thou repent. But this thou hast, that thou hatest the deeds of the Nicolaitans, which I also hate. He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the tree of life, which is in the midst of the paradise of God.

The Greek islanders infiltrated commercially, first Aeolians from Lesbos and then Ionians from Colophon, as at Phocaea farther N on the bay (E. Langlotz, Kulturelle und künstlerische Hellenisierung der Küsten des Mittelmeers durch die Stadt Phokaia [1966]). Smyrna was one of the cities claiming to be Homer's birthplace, and eventually it had a school named for him (Strabo Geog xiv.1.37). In 300 B.C., with the help of Alexander's officer Lysimachus, the urban center was moved.

It is not clear why the Jews of Smyrna, more than those V 4, p 556 of neighboring towns, felt antagonism toward the Christians. Polycarp, who also wrote an epistle (to the Philippians), was an old man when in 156 he was burned at the stake, "with his shoes on," according to his recorded request. The Martyrdom of Polycarp further records that Jews brought wood for his pyre even though it was a Sabbath. The Seljuk Turks were able to overthrow the Byzantines there briefly in 1084 and 1320 and definitively in 1415 after Timur's sack of the city in 1402.

Revelation 2:8-11

And unto the angel of the church in Smyrna write; These things saith the first and the last, which was dead, and is alive; I know thy works, and tribulation, and poverty, (but thou art rich) and I know the blasphemy of them which say they are Jews, and are not, but are the synagogue of Satan. Fear none of those things which thou shalt suffer: behold, the devil shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried; and ye shall have tribulation ten days: be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life. He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; He that overcometh shall not be hurt of the second death.

Pergamum (modern Bergama) was 24 km (15 mi) inland from the northeast Aegean shore and 110 km (70 mi) N of Smyrna. On a 300-m. (1000-ft) height, it commanded a magnificent view of the bay of Lesbos. Founded by Greek colonists, the town had a local coinage before 420 B.C. and is mentioned in Xenophon (Anabasis vii.8.8). Eumenes paid taxes to the warlike Galatians, but after 241 his nephew Attalus I overthrew their domination. He enriched his capital with splendid buildings and extended his rule toward Ankara and Antalya-Perga, 480 km (300 mi) ESE

Attalus II (159–138) founded under his own name the momentous south Turkey seaport of Attalia (now Antalya; see picture in ASIA MINOR) but saw his power decline. Prusias II of Bithynia took his city, and he died poisoned. Timur in 1402. The Ottomans installed since 1330 enriched the town with fifteen mosques, one allegedly an earlier Sancta Sophia church. Today Bergama has also a small museum amid its unequalled magnificence of standing ruins.

Revelation 2:12-17

And to the angel of the church in

Pergamos write; These things saith he which hath the sharp sword with two edges; I know thy works, and where thou dwellest, even where Satan's seat is: and thou holdest fast my name, and hast not denied my faith, even in those days wherein Antipas was my faithful martyr, who was slain among you, where Satan dwelleth. But I have a few things against thee, because thou hast there them that hold the doctrine of Balaam, who taught Balac to cast a stumblingblock before the children of Israel, to eat things sacrificed unto idols, and to commit fornication. So hast thou also them that hold the doctrine of the Nicolaitans, which thing I hate. Repent; or else I will come unto thee quickly, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth. He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the hidden manna, and will give him a white stone, and in the stone a new name written, which no man knoweth saving he that receiveth it.

Not much is known about the early history of the town. It was apparently first founded as Pelopia, a shrine of the Lydian sun-god Tyrinnus. At any rate, the Christian community that was firmly established in Thyatira by A.D. 95 had special local problems arising from the semireligious traditions of the trade guilds (see W. Ramsay, Social Basis of Roman Power in Asia Minor [1941]). Thyatira has a few remains of the temples and other buildings for which Caracalla (A.D. 211–217) received the title “Local Benefactor.” received the title “Local Benefactor.”

Some exegetes see these compromises as the “immorality” or “deep things of Satan” that were inculcated by “Jezebel” (Rev. 2:20, 24). Although this view might be correct, the text affords no real proof that the harsh name of JEZEBEL (an allusion to the OT queen) is here applied to an active member of the Christian community rather than, e.g., the known priestess of an oracular Sambethe cult. Despite the warning against cooperation with Jezebel, the local churchgoers are specially praised for continuing their faithful works.

Revelation 2:18-29

And unto the angel of the church in

Thyatira write; These things saith the Son of God, who hath his eyes like unto a flame of fire, and his feet are like fine brass; I know thy works, and charity, and service, and faith, and thy patience, and thy works; and the last to be more than the first. Notwithstanding I have a few things against thee, because thou sufferest that woman Jezebel, which calleth herself a prophetess, to teach and to seduce my servants to commit fornication, and to eat things sacrificed unto idols. And I gave her space to repent of her fornication; and she repented not. Behold, I will cast her into a bed, and them that commit adultery with her into great tribulation, except they repent of their deeds. And I will kill her children with death; and all the churches shall know that I am he which searcheth the reins and hearts: and I will give unto every one of you according to your works. But unto you I say, and unto the rest in Thyatira, as many as have not this doctrine, and which have not known the depths of Satan, as they speak; I will put upon you none other burden. But that which ye have already hold fast till I come. And he that overcometh, and keepeth my works unto the end, to him will I give power over the nations: And he shall rule them with a rod of iron; as the vessels of a potter shall they be broken to shivers: even as I received of my Father, and I will give him the morning star. He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches.

The site of Sardis is across the highway and railway line from the modern village of Sart, W of the larger Salihli between Manisa and Philadelphia (Alas,ehir). Ruins of the ancient city spread from the acropolis, on a jagged crag of Mt. Tmolus/Boz, down its western slope to the Pactolus River, which further N flows into the Hermus/Gediz. Across the road and E of the acropolis are other striking ruins, including the synagogue. The city was founded ca 1200 B.C. It successfully resisted an invasion of Cimmerians, and its prosperity under the Mermnad Dynasty (650–550;

The excavation also gradually extended N of the modern highway, where a gymnasium was found that stood on an artificial earthwork. Its eastern section had a marble court, which has been rebuilt into a two-story monument visible from miles around. The most sensational discovery was a southern portion of this complex, originally a basilica, but apparently transformed into a synagogue from ca A.D. 200 to 616, also vividly rebuilt. Greek inscriptions seem to indicate that the Jewish community held a position of prestige and power.

Revelation 3:1-6

And unto the angel of the church in Sardis write; These things saith he that hath the seven Spirits of God, and the seven stars; I know thy works, that thou hast a name that thou livest, and art dead. Be watchful, and strengthen the things which remain, that are ready to die: for I have not found thy works perfect before God.

Remember therefore how thou hast received and heard, and hold fast, and repent. If therefore thou shalt not watch, I will come on thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what hour I will come upon thee. Thou hast a few names even in Sardis which have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with me in white: for they are worthy. He that overcometh, the same shall be clothed in white raiment; and I will not blot out his name out of the book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before his angels. He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches.

Like Sardis Philadelphia was helped by Tiberius after the earthquake of A.D. 17 (Strabo Geog xiii.4.10) and showed its gratitude by adding Neocaesarea to its name. The city became Philadelphia Flavia under Vespasian Flavius and in 214 added the title Neokoros, “(emperor-cult-) temple-keeper” (PaulyWissowa, XIX/2, 2091). Philadelphia’s temples merited it a prosperous stream of pilgrims, so that by A.D. 400 it was known as “little Athens.

Ignatius of Antioch wrote to Philadelphia from Smyrna. Philadelphia’s own first bishop may have been Demetrios of 3 Jn. About 8 km (5 mi) E of Alas,ehir in Badinca, Roman remains were found and partly removed to the museum in Manisa (CBQ, 18 [1956], 35). The Byzantine rampart inside Alas,ehir is still visible; from 1109 to 1379 the Byzantine rulers resisted efforts of the Seljuk Moslems to incorporate the town into their surrounding domains. The town, with a population of 20,000–25,000 remains partly Greek.

Revelation 3:7-13

And to the angel of the church in

Philadelphia write; These things saith he that is holy, he that is true, he that hath the key of David, he that openeth, and no man shutteth; and shutteth, and no man openeth; I know thy works: behold, I have set before thee an open door, and no man can shut it: for thou hast a little strength, and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my name. Behold, I will make them of the synagogue of Satan, which say they are Jews, and are not, but do lie; behold, I will make them to come and worship before thy feet, and to know that I have loved thee. Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth. Behold, I come quickly: hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown. Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God, and he shall go no more out: and I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, which is new Jerusalem, which cometh down out of heaven from my God: and I will write upon him my new name. He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches.

After the Syrians and the Pergamenes successively dominated the city, the Romans became its rulers in 133 B.C. They reconstructed ancient roads leading into the Anatolian hinterland, and Laodicea became the major junction for traffic west to Ephesus and the Aegean, north and west to Philadelphia, Pergamum, and Smyrna, east through southern Galatia to the Cilician Gates, and south to the Mediterranean. The population was cosmopolitan: Roman colonizers, the original Phrygians, and immigrant Syrian settlers, including Jews

Among the distinguishable ruins are a large stadium, a gymnasium, two theaters, gates, and several churches. Also evident are the remains of a great water system. Its fine aqueduct is built from large, tightly fitted, and cemented rectangular stones, through which a circular central channel is bored. The water was transported by the aqueduct from the mountain springs and raised to a tall water-distribution tower by syphon action. Laodicea also has a magnificent nymphaeum (public fountain), near which archeologists uncovered friezes of Zeus.

The church of Laodicea

Revelation 3:14-22

And unto the angel of the church of the Laodiceans write; These things saith the Amen, the faithful and true witness, the beginning of the creation of God; I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot: I would thou wert cold or hot. So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth. Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked: I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eyesalve, that thou mayest see. As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten: be zealous therefore, and repent. Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me. To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne. He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches.

The above images are from the excavations made of the seven churches, to whom John wrote his epistles.

They include the altar of Jezebel, several theaters where they feed people to the lions. Some of the pipes that took the hot water to Loadicense, the altar of Zoost "Satan" and various other parts. It's excavations were done in the current Turkey.

The prophetic end of the church era, with the closure of the church of Laodicea.

The rapture will take place here.

Revelation 4:1

After this I looked, and, behold, a door was opened in heaven: and the first voice which I heard was as it were of a trumpet talking with me; which said, Come up hither, and I will shew thee things which must be hereafter.
